Major Local Impact From Gov. Kerner's Administration and Retirement Decision

The decision of Gov. Otto Kerner not to seek re-election must be respected; but will not be without impact on the Quad-Cities and the remainder of Illinois. He cited family considerations and may also have based his decision—"the most difficult of my life"—partly on the fact that no one has served three four-year guberatorial terms in the 150-year history of Port District board and other agencies bear this out. We doubt that any Illinois governor, de-pending as he often must on the research and advice of others, will ever be able to please everyone in such a vast area. Certainly, the imbalance in state revenue and spending pro-posals made some disappointments unavoidable. In summary, his standing as an intelligent, honest and hard-working governor is deserved and constitutes one of the highest possible tributes.

The Nameoki town board now is falling into the same trap. Combined with its recent obstructionist tactics involving municipal boundary changes and services to schools, the board's move to try to block use of a drainage channel may appear understandable, but really is not.

At a time when the federal government is curbing nearly all kinds of domestic spending, would the Nameoki board like to see Granite City have to default and turn back an already secured, hard-earned and justified $1,500,000 sy Bother to Think For Ourselves?

Glenny Will Be Glad to Do It For Us

The executive director of the Illinois Board of Higher Education holds a high position. But we don't think it gives him the authority to dictate to Madison county residents, who still have a few rights left.

The first rights left of the county has been fighting a delaying action against SIU-SW dormitories primarily because he thinks he is better equipped than local voters to decide whether they need and want a junior college district. He has reached such a decision—an affirmative one— and wants to leave county property owners no choice but to aced by his board, Dr. Glenny tried hard to formally limit SIU-SW residential facilities to upperclassmen and graduate students even though this would make the necessary revenue bonds unsalable. His contention was that possible availability of dormitory space to freshmen and sophomores might provide a basis for opposition to construction of junior college buildings in the thinks of the University of Illinois have been successful in disposing of various bonds but that only 13.5% of the authorizations for junior college construction in the state have been bonded so far. In urging a freeze on higher education construction work other than that given topriority by the board, he said that other of the college districts do not have any facilities. It's nice that SIU and the U. of I. have such a warm 'friend.'

It must be nice to be smarter than anyone else, or to think so, anyway.

Dr. Glenny is not the first far-off bureaucrat to conclude that he knows best how to run other people's lives, and he probably will not be the last. But local voters don't have to capitulate; they can and should keep in mind his efforts to manipulate them when they go to the polls.

MRTC plans to invest $25,000,000

expanding its pipeline system to bring more natural gas to Metropolitan St. Louis

We are ready now with plans for expansion of our natural gas pipeline system in 1968 at a cost of $25 million.

It will increase the capacity of our pipelines into the St. Louis Metropolitan area by 100 million cubic feet of gas per day in winter. This is an increase of 15% over the present capacity.

The $25 million investment in new pipeline facilities will be the greatest in any year in our history. About 200 miles of new pipe-26 inches in diameter -will be added along our lines from Louisiana into Greater St. Louis.

It's a big job. We've asked the Federal Power Commission to approve the plan promptly, so we can meet the growing need for this clean-air fuel by next November.
